STATEMENT OF FACTS

A. BACKGROUND

11. Mr. Privett is a US citizen, whom married his foreign spouse, Ms. Doris Privett. On or about April 29, 2013 he filed an I-130, Petition for Alien Relative, as the first step of his goal of eventually petitioning for her LPR status.
12. USCIS states its processing times for I-130 applications is 5 months.
13. Plaintiff's application has been pending for over 16 months with no decision.

STATUTORY FRAMEWORK

The Relevant Immigration Framework

14. Under the INA, United States citizens may petition for their spouses to be classified as “immediate relatives,” who are therefore eligible for an immigrant visa and lawful permanent residence in the United States. 8 U.S.C. §§ 1151(b)(2)(A)(i), 1154.
15. To petition for an immigrant visa on behalf of their spouse, the US citizen must file an I-130 Petition for Alien Relative with USCIS. 8 C.F.R. § 204.1(a)(1)(2009). If the adjudicator “determines that the facts stated in the petition are true and that the alien on behalf of whom the petition is made is an immediate relative,” then the adjudicator “shall. . .approve the petition.” 8 U.S.C. §1154(b).
16. Lawful Permanent Residency allows a foreign national to reside in the United States, to work here, and to travel in and out of the country with limited restrictions. 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(20); 8 C.F.R. §§ 274a.12(a)(1), 316.5(c)(1). As the name implies, that status is permanent—a lawful permanent resident may remain in the United States indefinitely, so long as the person abides by the nation’s immigration laws. 8 U.S.C. § 1101(a)(20).
17. It is no overstatement to say that family unification is a central principle underlying our immigration system.

CAUSES OF ACTION

Mandamus & APA

18. Plaintiff brings this action under the Mandamus Act, 28 U.S.C. §1361, which allows for a writ of mandamus to be issued if the plaintiff has exhausted all other avenues of relief and the defendant owes him a clear, nondiscretionary duty. Heckler v. Ringer, 466 US 602, 616, (1984). The duty owed by the government must be “a legal duty which is a specific, plain ministerial act ‘devoid of the exercise of judgment or discretion.’ An act is ministerial only when its performance is positively commanded and so plainly prescribed as to be free from doubt.” Harmon Cove Condo Assoc. v. Marsh, 815 F.2d 949, 951 (3rd Cir 1987).

19. Defendants have a non-discretionary duty to act on applications within a reasonable time. Haidari v. Frazier, No. 06-3215, 2006 US Dist. LEXIS 89177 (D. Minn. Dec. 8, 2006) (noting that while “the decision of whether to grant or deny an adjustment application is discretionary... Plaintiffs are only asking [the] Court to compel Defendants to make any decision.”)
20. In the instant case, the Defendant has a clear, nondiscretionary duty to adjudicate cases before it in a timely manner. The Defendant has manifestly been derelict in this duty. The instant matters have been before them for a period of over 8 months.
21. The Plaintiff also brings this action under the APA, which governs judicial review of agency decisions. The APA states that “[a] person suffering legal wrong because of agency action, or adversely affected or aggrieved by agency action within the meaning of a relevant statute, is entitled to judicial review thereof.” 5 U.S.C. §702. “Agency action” includes the failure to act. 5 U.S.C. § 551(13). The APA also requires that “[w]ith due regard for the convenience and necessity of the parties or their representatives and within a reasonable time, each agency shall proceed to conclude a matter presented to it.” 5 U.S.C. §555(b). The reviewing court has the power to “compel agency action unlawfully withheld or unreasonably delayed.” 5 U.S.C. §706(1).
22. Mr. Privett has been injured in the failure of defendants to adjudicate his petition. He is a US citizen and entered into a lawful marriage with the love of his life, who happens to be a citizen of another country. The couple’s life has been placed on hold while defendants wait on their application. Thus, in failing to adjudicate Mr. Privett’s petition defendants are de facto denying him his right to marry and build a family with the person of his choosing injuring his fundamental rights as a US citizen.
23. Defendants have unreasonably and without substantial justification failed to perform their duty of considering these petitions in a timely fashion. Defendants have unreasonably, arbitrarily, and capriciously failed to perform their duty and a writ of mandamus is appropriate.
24. Plaintiff has exhausted any administrative remedies which may exist.

WHEREFORE, the Plaintiff respectfully prays that defendants be cited to appear herein, and the Court:

- A. Assume jurisdiction of this case;
- B. Compel the Defendants to decide the I-130 petition at issue here;
- C. Should USCIS decide the I-130 petition at issue while this action is pending, that this Court maintain jurisdiction over this claim, so Plaintiff can move to amend the complaint pursuant to defendants' unlawful decision;
- D. Grant Plaintiff's reasonable attorney fees;
- E. Grant Plaintiff such other relief at law and in equity as this Court deems just and proper.
